Thieme Publishing Group – More than 120 years of scientific publishing

Georg Thieme was just 26 years old when, in 1886, he founded what would become one of the world’s premier medical and scientific publishers. Today the Thieme Publishing Group is a privately-owned and family-oriented company with more than 900 employees and offices in seven cities, including New York, Leipzig, Stuttgart, and Delhi, and in three other locations in Germany.

The company is characterized by competence, fairness and success. At the Thieme Publishing Group we strive for customer satisfaction, quality, creative innovation, and user requirements. Our goal is to meet the growing challenges it faces because of the tremendous strides made by modern science. It is more than the ever-growing challenges it faces because of the internationalization of teaching and research and the increasingly focused specialization of the readership.

Today, the Thieme Publishing Group has become an appreciated business partner with more than 2,000 institutional customers in over 15 countries. In addition to more than 100 peer-reviewed journals and dozens of online products, Thieme publishes more than 500 book titles every year – that’s more than 125,000 printed pages. Our online products have more than 10 million sessions per year.

Because Thieme recruits authors from all over the world, its publications have a truly global perspective. Today the Thieme authors’ community consists of over 15,000 members.

Thieme seeks to keep pace with the tremendous strides made by modern science. It is more than the ever-growing challenges it faces because of the internationalization of teaching and research and the increasingly focused specialization of the readership. Inspired by the past and committed to an independent future, the Thieme Publishing Group continues to grow through the further development of its print and electronic offerings.
